14:12-13; 55:1-12—July 9

and we see the beauty of our all."

In this study we investigate Divinely drawn portrait of the experiences which God fore-ordained should come upon the One whom He has permitted shall ultimately be the great Messiah of glory who will exalt the nation of Israel and through it pour blessings upon all the families of the earth. Thus it is written, "In thy Seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed." Much of the prophecy of this study has already been fulfilled, but not all of it—the glorious futures are yet to come, and we believe are nigh, even at the door.

These prophecies were written nearly seven hundred years before our Christian Era. They had their most striking fulfillment in the personal experiences of Jesus. However, it should not be forgotten that a faithful handful, a "little flock," the followers of Jesus, have walked in His steps during the nineteen centuries of this Age; they have followed Him through evil report and good report; they have suffered with Him, and the reproaches of those who reproached Him have fallen upon them; and when the hour of glorious revelation, the Kingdom power, shall come, these will be with their Redeemer and share His throne and glory, and, as His Bride, share His name. "This is the name whereby she shall be called. Our righteousness of Jehovah."—Jer. 23:6; 33:16.

The key to the understanding of the long delay in the establishment of Messiah's Kingdom is found in the fact that the Church is a very part of Him, members of His Body. Had it not been the Divine intention to gather an "elect" few from Israel and from all nations to be the Bride of Messiah, and a sharer in His Kingdom, there would have been no need of the long delay between the sufferings of Jesus and the outpouring of the glorious blessings which His death secures.

Again it must be remembered that the elect Church is wholly different from the nominal church, as represented in its various systems. The true Church of God consists only of the truly few who may be found inside and outside of all denominations of Christendom. "Gather My saints together unto Me, those who have made a covenant with Me by sacrifice" (Psa. 50:5).

There are two reasons why the world and its great ones will be astonished when the Mediatorial Kingdom shall suddenly burst upon the world. They have heard such chimerical and unscriptural statements respecting Messiah's Kingdom, even from the people of God, that they will be taken completely by surprise when they shall behold the reality.

When it shall be ushered in, following a great social revolution, it will be no much more majestically grand than anything dreamed of that every mouth shall be stopped and, as the Lord through the Prophet declares, that Kingdom of Messiah shall be the "Master of all nations."—Hag. 2:6, 7.

As Seen by His Followers

Chapter 51, verses 1 to 6, pictures the experiences of Jesus as viewed from the standpoint of the disciples of His day and since. Following their communion, they have told the wonderful story of the Savior's love and sacrifice, even unto death. But how few have heard, in the true sense of hearing, how few have appreciated it; how few have seen in Jesus the Arm of Jehovah, stretched down for the relief of Adam and his race from sin and death! Only a handful, the sanctified few, really and truly believe the message, for surely every true believer would not only accept the professed share of the Believer's merit, but also the proffered share of His sufferings, that they might have a share also in the glory to follow.

The Scriptures explain that in the Divine arrangement our Lord bears Adam and his race, condemned through his fall. Being raised from the dead by the Heavenly Father, Jehovah, Jesus is now the glorified One, merely waiting for the completion of the Church which is His Body, that He may take to Himself His great power and reign, as the Messiah of Israel and of the world. During the Messianic reign, opportunity will be given to Adam and all his race to be resurrected or uplifted out of sin and death conditions—up, up, to full human perfection and everlasting life—to all that was lost in Adam, to all that was redeemed through the cross. This is explained in the following verse: "He shall see His seed"—His progeny; as many of Adam's progeny as will obey Him He will adopt as His children, giving them life everlasting on the plane of human perfection.

allowing ample circulation of air. Modified forms of the high crowned hat are worn by young folks without such disastrous results as to the appearance as in the case of adults. Pyroxylin head forms this model, which has a coquettishly turned back brim bound and strapped with velvet and tipped with metal buttons.

GIFTS FOR TRAVELERS.*Useful Articles Are Always the Most Acceptable.

At this season, when so many people are starting for a trip, almost every girl has some friends who are going, and she probably has one or more to whom she would like to make some little gift for them to use while traveling.

One of the really desirable things to give is a new kind of very flat brush that comes in a soft leather case. These brushes take up hardly any space and can be packed flat against the side of a suitcase or steamer trunk. The brush itself is only about half an inch thick, and the leather of the case amounts to very little, so it is much easier to carry in traveling than any ordinary clothesbrush. The case may contain only one brush or may be double and have two—one will brush for clothes and a soft one for hair.

The giver can also buy, to go with this, a similar soft leather case for handkerchiefs and veil. This is made on the plan of a man's pocket letter case. It is, of course, larger than the letter case and is very flat. The pocket on one side will hold comfortably a dozen handkerchiefs, folded to fit without too muchlapping over each other, and on the other side several folded veils can be carried.

These cases are also made for gloves, and the girl who wants to give her traveling friend quite a substantial present can get a whole set of the leather cases just alike.

GROWING PLANTS.*They Give an Air of Refinement to a Room.

Growing plants lend more charm to a living or dining room than any other sort of simple decoration, and it is a matter of slight expense to have a number of these about the house. To look really well the earthen jars which contain them should be set into fancy baskets. Among the inexpensive yet artistic shapes are the baskets of coarse white stained dark brown, green or grey metal.

One shape, with slender handle and legs, suggests a wasp's nest; another has a trelliswork over which a vine might be trained, and a third is a boat with a center tub for a jar and end dishes for holding moss or ferns.

Finer baskets made of wicker twigs from Japan are cleverly woven into odd shapes, and nearly all of these have handles by which they may be hung up or over which vines may be trained.

Decidedly more expensive than the willow and twig baskets are those of French gilt. If the wicker is white enameled these baskets accord perfectly with a Louis Quince furnished drawing room and may be rendered even more elaborate by the addition of big bows and straps of cloth of gold ribbon.

Insomnia Remedies.

A sufferer from insomnia says that she was cured of sleeplessness by the simplest means, that of eating a raw onion sandwich just before going to bed.

Less disagreeable to some people is another sandwich cure which has been vouchsafed by an enthusiast. It is made by buttering richly two thin slices of bread, then sprinkling them with cayenne pepper. These sand-wiches should be eaten just before getting into bed, and sleep is said to quickly follow.

The hot water treatment is advocated by many people. It consists of putting the feet into hot water as hot as can be borne before going to bed; also drinking a cup of very hot water.

RIBBON USES.*Grosgrain Plays an Important Part In Personal Decoration.

Grosgrain ribbons of rich quality and heavy weave plays an important part in personal decoration these days. It has been used for some time with gold and jeweled slides as watch fobs, but is now being put to many other uses.

A woman in mourning who cannot afford to buy herself a new black enamel or gun metal watch may wear her gold one, provided the chain is slender. This is often of says beads twisted into a rope, but more economical is a long chain of grosgrain ribbon with slides and hook of says or dull jet.

The width of these ribbon guards varies from half an inch to an inch and a half, the three-quarters width being suitable for older women.

The ribbon watch guard is no longer popular for mourning only. It is smart just now to hold watch or brooch worn with jeweled or enamelled slides at intervals through its length, with hook and catch to match. Sometimes these slides are set in rhinestones, again in turquoise or semi-precious stones, occasionally in finely chased gold.

Besides being new and fashionable, such a guard is serviceable and much better form for ordinary daily wear than jeweled gold chains or even the antique silver ones set with amethysts, lapis, and jade.

The grosgrain ribbon guard for eyeglasses is now a familiar sight. Oddly enough, the wide band of black ribbon hanging over one cheek is becoming and by its smartness takes away the look of old age that eyeglasses frequently give.

Quite new are pins and brooches in which grosgrain ribbon is utilized to bring out settings of brilliants. Some of these are in now-knot or true love knot shapes beaded with rhinestones set in silver; others are long bar pins for belt or belt, the background of the grosgrain crossed with a central and end ornaments of silver and rhinestones separated by rhinestone slides.

Sometimes this ribbon is made up into dog collars crossed by jeweled slides and clasp, with a larger oval or square ornament in the middle of the front. The fullness of the ribbon is so much less becoming than velvet that it is not likely to become popular.

THE MESH BAG.*A Convenient Specimen With Attached Powder Puff Case.

The silver mesh bag is not likely to be displaced in popularity by even the most magnificient reticule, for the mesh bag never grows soiled and shabby. Should it become a trifle tarnished its pristine brightness can easily be renewed. This is a representative design, the finely chained body of the bag being finished by silver fringe. Attached to the bag are silver cases for smelling salts, powder puff and needles.

Care of Milk.

First class milk, left at the door in a clean bottle and at a low temperature, may be sour or off flavor twelve hours later because it was left standing in a warm kitchen for a few minutes or was poured out into a pan that had been washed in the dishpan and wiped on a towel that had done service for all kinds of dishes for several days.

Milk should not be left standing in the sun a minute after the milkman leaves it. The consumer should have a place for the milk inside the house or in the shade and should see that the delivery man puts it there. It should be taken immediately to the coolest place in the house and left in the bottle without removing the cap until wanted for use, or you cannot blame the milkman if the milk spoils.

Moving Pussy.

Every one knows the love of a cat for a particular place, and this love makes it very hard to persuade kitty to move when the family does. A custom tried and found true in England is to destroy the house scent which leads the cat to return to the old house, and which is carried by the foot, by rubbing her paws well with butter.

For the sake both of cleanliness and the butter pussy will lick her paws clean. This, for some reason, takes away the scent, and she is forever after contented and happy—until you move again.
